Exploring Mythology to Uncover Meaning in
Our Own Lives

Marlene Frantz
Jungian Analyst

Jung wrote that in each image in a myth “there is a little piece of human psychology and human fate, a remnant of the joys and sorrows that have been repeated countless times in our ancestral history.” In this presentation, Marlene will share her exploration into the myth of Demeter and Persephone, in which she used a reciprocal approach to both extract the essence of the Myth, while deepening her awareness and understanding of events in her own life.

Marlene Frantz is a Jungian analyst, a Group Psychotherapist, an Equine therapist, an artist and a writer. Her private practice in Santa Monica, California, includes adults, couples, children and bi-monthly dream groups. Ms. Frantz has lectured on creativity, grief, and equine therapy and led workshops on the creative process, dreams, and rebuilding one’s life after loss. She has contributed articles and been a featured artist in the journal ‘Psychological Perspectives’. She is on the Board and a Supervisor at The Coldwater Counseling Center, and a Training Analyst and the President elect of the C.G. Jung institute of Los Angeles.
